

NEWLY-MINTED REPORTER Fred Scully stumbles upon the story of a lifetime. Now he just needs to make sure he lives to tell it.

Billionaire presidential hopeful Billy Joe Northrop and good ol' boy political strategist Bull O'Connor have a plan to take the White House, one built on deceit and backroom deals that weave a twisted path across two nations to a remote Indigenous territory. The region may change forever — as will history — if elder Noah Hanlon can't overcome personal tragedy to fight for the land he loves.

Bruce Fraser's political thriller imagines the intersection of the American electoral process with Indigenous land rights, completing his trilogy exploring the vast canvas of the Chilcotin region of British Columbia.

"An enjoyable, fast, and moving account."

— Sage Birchwater

Author of Chiwid and The Chilcotin Chronicles

"A finely crafted and gripping read."

— Marvin Storrow QC C.Arb. LLD
